Reena Jain focuses her practice on business, entertainment and media, and intellectual property litigation, representing a broad range of clients, including award-winning musicians, social media influencers, fashion retailers, and cannabis and spirits companies.

Reena regularly guides clients through every stage of litigation and arbitration, from performing pre-suit evaluations, initiating suits, and aggressively pursuing discovery, to summary judgment, mediation, and trial on the merits. Her experience includes breach of contract, breach of fiduciary duty, copyright, defamation and SLAPP, patent, right of publicity, trademark, trade secret, and unfair competition litigation. She also negotiates, drafts, and reviews contracts, including talent agency, artist management, and sponsorship agreements.

During law school, Reena served as executive editor of the Columbia Science and Technology Law Review and interned with both the United States Attorney's Office and Tapestry, Inc. f/k/a Coach, Inc.
