Kathleen J. Udo concentrates her practice on managing complex, multi-faceted commercial real estate transactions, including regulatory compliance.

Kathleen has notable experience in structuring, negotiating, and advising on all aspects of the real estate life cycle. She has represented developers, investors, and financial institutions in the acquisition, sale, financing, construction, development, and leasing of commercial real estate in the U.S.

She most recently served as a senior adviser for business line compliance at an international investment bank with primary coverage over commercial real estate, securitized products trading, and CLO businesses.

Outside The Firm

Kathleen enjoys staying active with her husband and young son and has become a passionate Peloton user.
